Thanks for your email.
I'm pleased that the model can be used for your thesis.
Please go ahead and use the model

Hello

I am writing my master's thesis about older people and pain. I have read your article «A biopsychosocial model of chronic pain for older adults» and think this model and framework you are describing is good. And wondering if I can use this description in my thesis?

I will later on consider to write an article, and I will of course refer to you and the article in my work.
